

vita-life® R-System:

Ancient knowledge and innovative technology

The vita-life® R-System combines ancient wisdom from naturopathy with state-of-the-art technology, thereby helping your body to activate its own self-healing forces. The vita-life® R-System works gently, like a natural remedy, and no side-effects whatsoever have been reported even after a decade of use.

Twelve fully-automatic programmes work according to the principle of the organ clock, familiar from Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM). The organ clock is based on the centuries-old experience of Chinese healers, who claim that our organs have strong and weak phases at different times of the day. By translating this knowledge into a software programme, the magnetic field always adapts perfectly to the requirements of the various times of day. This unique technology, which follows the eternal laws of nature, is only available with the vita-life® R-System. It will help you track the rhythm of your own body – and this has long since been proven as the best method of achieving greater vitality and joie de vivre.

vita-life® R-System: Harnessing the forces of nature

Magnetic fields are all around us and inside us: magnetism is one of the forces of nature without which no plant, animal or human would be able to survive. Without a natural magnetic field, the body very quickly becomes sick, as the experiences of the first astronauts confirm.

The vita-life® R-System uses the natural phenomenon of magnetism to relax the body and mind, boost vitality and maintain health. This is because long-term health and vitality right through into old age depend greatly on finding the right balance between relaxation and activity. The vita-life® R-System helps you live your life better without a lot of extra effort.

vita-life® R-System: A solid basis for vitality and wellness

The vita-life® R-System is a magnetic resonance stimulation system. It generates a magnetic field that can help your body relax, be activated and enjoy long-term health.

The vita-life® R-System essentially comprises a control unit and a mat applicator, which generates electromagnetic fields. Using an optional finger sensor, data is measured from the body and fed into the programme. This bio-feedback, as it is known, allows the magnetic resonance stimulation to constantly harmonise in real time with your body's responses.

vita-life® R-System: The daily wellness routine

Around 8 to 16 minutes, twice a day on the vita-life® R-System is probably the easiest and most enjoyable way of doing something positive for your health.

Using it is simplicity itself: you lie on the mat applicator, attach the finger sensor, press Start – and just relax. Depending on the programme selected, you will either be wonderfully relaxed or feel completely refreshed after the session.

vita-life® R-System: State-of-the-art magnetic resonance stimulation

The vita-life® R-System follows a holistic approach that benefits both body and mind; so it is not without good reason that research and development are an important part of vita-life®'s activities. The aim of all our products and developments is to increase your feeling of wellbeing and vitality.

Take the following innovations, for example:

Bio-feedback: during the session, a finger sensor constantly relays bio-data from your body and the programme adapts automatically to your responses.

equifield® applicators and homogenous field: a new method generates an even and uniform magnetic field that facilitates the gentle and simultaneous stimulation of all parts of the body.

Special programmes for particular requirements: as well as the easy-to-use standard programme, you can also use special programmes for particular requirements.

Rod applicator: for local applications, you can deliver magnetic resonance stimulation to precise spots with the rod applicator. It is available as an accessory.

Chip card: the chip card allows you to upload new programmes as and when required. Your system therefore won't go out of date when vita-life® develops new applications.

Sound stimulation and coloured light: the beneficial effects of sound stimulation and coloured light have been known in naturopathy for years. They offer the perfect complement to magnetic resonance stimulation. It is available as an accessory.
